

.

.

Convergence is heuristic. Divergence is epistemic. Heuristic spaces are symmetries. Epistemic spaces are individualities: fields of difference in which no two points are one. Existence predicates distinguishable arrays. Epistemic spaces escape controls. Such spaces self-justify in rigors of identify. Identity conceives dignity singular to existence.